

TWO MEMBERS OF BOARD OBJECT TO $85,000 EXPENSE

Corbin and Bailey Fear People Will Oppose Exceeding $15,000 Jail Appropriation.

NEW HEATING PLANT FAVORED

Supervisors Decide to Spend $18,000 for That Purpose in Spite of Objections.

Conservation of public funds was the main argument which discussion for Rock Island county's new jail turned over to the board of supervisors before the board accepted Architect C. D. McCombs' plans for the $15,000 building and $18,000 heating plant. Supervisor Clark Corbin of Hampton took the lead in the battle to keep down expenses and was aided by Assistant Supervisor Roy Bailey, Moline.

Mr. Corbin wanted to know why the present building could not be used when the new jail is built. He was told that this would be possible but that repairs would necessitate almost as much expense as purchase of new one.

J. E. Larkin volunteered the information that the tax levy which the county voted would bring not only $15,000 needed for the jail, but $25,000 more and that a new heating system is needed for the court house at present. He stated that the incurring of $18,000 debt for the purpose is not added expense to the jail, but is for upkeep of county buildings. Mr. Bailey expressed his desire to go on record as opposed to spending one cent more than the people voted. It was their wish he believed, that they wanted only $15,000 spent when they voted that sum. He took the ground that extras would bring the total expense of the jail to $100,000.

Advertise for Bids.
Others failed to respond to the lead set by these new members, most of the speakers taking the position that if a new system is needed to properly heat the county buildings that it would be an economy to plan for its construction at this time. On motion of Supervisor Paul Wadsworth, the board approved the plans of Architect C. D. McCombs and authorized the advertising for bids.

The chairman appointed Supervisors Corbin and Wadsworth upon the jail building committee, vice Hanna and Ruben whose terms expired this year.

AFTER 22 YEARS BOARD DISSOLVES

Sears, Incorporated in 1893, Passes at Meeting of Its Trustees in Town Hall.

Rock Island Receives Books, Monies and Property—In School Fund There Is $3,000.

With its first president, last and new president-elect present, the village board of Sears at a meeting at the town hall last evening, dissolved after adopting the report of the canvassing board which showed that the union ordinance carried there by a majority of 11.

Thus passes out of existence the village, which in 1893, 22 years ago, was incorporated under the general laws of Illinois. When the board convened, there was a large assemblage on hand to witness the passing of the village. There was present in the chair presiding, Simon Poehlman, present president of the board, C. H. Dibern, a member who was the first president, was also in attendance. H. A. Clevens, president-elect, who by virtue of the passage of the union ordinance will not assume the duties to which he was elected Tuesday, was an interested spectator.

E. D. Fisher, a member, who served on the first board, was there, too, as were numerous others who during the 22 years of its existence served on the village board. The remainder of the crowd was composed of citizens who have aided in giving Sears an enviable reputation as a village.

Three Start Incorporation.
In 1893 through the influence of C. H. Dibern, David Sears and Joseph Woodruff, the village was incorporated. Previous to that time the section was known as the "Tower" or "Sears." People in Rock Island referred to it as both, at that time making no distinction between the resort on the bluff and the village.

But residents in the village referred to it always as "Sears" and when incorporation was made the cognomen was retained because of the prominence of the Sears families in that community.

Mr. Dibern was elected first president and Mr. Fisher was one of the members of the board. The latter body made a record during its history of meetings and many projects were accomplished that would do credit to even a larger village.

The board authorized macadam paving and put in this public improvement. It purchased a tract of ground and had a well dug, and when the union of Rock Island was first conceived last winter was working on plans for an extensive waterworks system which would give fire protection and some of the benefits only enjoyed by peoples in cities.

Twelve years ago people in Sears and Rock Island were paying 10 cents to ride back and forth on the Watch Tower car. The board took up a fight and finally the street car company lowered this price to 5 cents, which now on big days at the resort results often in the savings of $1,000 to people in Rock Island, to say nothing of the economy realized daily by the people of Sears.

Without Indebtedness.
The village now is without indebtedness. All projects undertaken were paid for, and there is no bonds standing against the village.

Therefore, when the books were closed last evening and turned over to the city of Rock Island, a neat sum went with it. In the school fund there was $2,600 alone. This with the books and papers and all other equipment goes to the city of Rock Island through the dissolution of the board.

But it was given gladly? There were no sighs when the board ended its work. There may have been some sentiment among those who labored long for the village and whose hearts and efforts were wrapped up in the work which was started 22 years ago. But this feeling was not predominant for now they look to a greater era and will continue their public spiritedness for the city of Rock Island with a view to its upbuilding.

When the board convened last evening among the first matters taken up was the payment of all current expenses including those incurred in Tuesday's election.

Then the certificate from the Rock Island council showing that the union ordinance carried here was received and passed upon. Concluding this E. D. Fisher moved that the certificate of Sears canvassing board be adopted, and that all books, monies and property be turned over to the city of Rock Island. This was seconded by John Bleuer and unanimously passed. The adoption of this motion dissolved the village board.

Ends With Speeches.
Speechmaking concluded the session. Mr. Dibern, the first president, Mr. Poehlman, the last executive, Mr. Clevens, president-elect, and numerous others, members of the board or those who served on previous ones, made rousing talks.

Many went over the history of the village and of the projects planned, but all looked to the future of the "south side" of Rock Island and were enthusiastic in their expression of pleasure at the turn the affairs had taken.

ROCK ISLAND'S BIG QUALITY STORE

The Store That Sells Wooltex

Do Women of Good Judgment Buy Bargain Suits?

It is only the women of good judgment that get the real bargains.

To say: "$25 suits for $18.75" is not enough for them. They look behind the price.

They are the women who do not judge a garment by the price alone.

They are the women who find out where and under what conditions a garment is made; how it is made; and the quality of materials in it.

Our tailored coats and suits are all of one standard—and that the highest.

You know what you get when you buy our suits and coats—refined style, pure wool and pure silk materials, tailoring of custom-tailor quality—a shapely coat or suit that stays shapely because of its superior quality.

The Season for Summer Hats May be Belated, but Our Styles—Never Tomorrow will usher in the last day of this informal display of Summer Millinery at the Big Store. Eager shoppers have been in evidence here every day since our opening, and only comments of favor have been heard.

This has been a most imposing event and one that is worthy of a visit from you, if you've neglected coming.

Among the myriad Hats for summer wear, those who must think of "what to get for the little tots" will find that our present displays of charming models for little misses and children is delightfully broad in its scope.

Now wouldn't your little girl look too cute for anything in this little bonnet shown here?

Truly she would, and yet this is only one of a host of cunning Hats for the little ones that we're showing at this time.

To counterbalance the flare of one's skirt, this leg-horn hat flares, and then gives a breezy smartness to one's costume by carrying two bright, flashing ribbons (you choose the colors), while roses grace the crown at one side.

Your Money Back

A famous retail store has the slogan, "Your money back if you want it." That could be used equally well by this bank. While most of our savings depositors do not withdraw funds unless it is absolutely necessary, it is a satisfaction to them to know that they can get their money back quickly when they want it, which cannot be done in the case of most investments.

In another sense you get your money back here through the working of compound interest, which in a comparatively few years will double any sum left on deposit undisturbed.
